FOREWORD

IN publishing this book, we wish to preserve a record of the events which took place during our high school career. Although we realize that all good things must come to an end, it is, at the same time, difficult to leave the school we have learned to love. Our task is accomplished if this book will aid in vividly recalling to mind in later years memories of happy, profitable hours spent at Adrian High School.

DEDICATION

To

MISS HELEN HARRINGTON

our class adviser, under whose fine direction we have reached the end of our high school career . . . we affectionately dedicate this Sickle

DEAR Old Adrian High School, symbol of our hope and strife, Author who has plainly written the first chapter of our life—
'Tis with great regret we leave you, leave your ever friendly walls,
Leave the laughter, joy and friendship that we knew within your halls.
You welcomed us as freshmen; you knew our hopes and fears,
You took us and made men of us—Made us strong for future years.
Little did we guess then how we took you to our hearts,
Or how we'd dread to leave you when it came time to part.
But now the time has come and we must sigh in last adieu !
Hark ! was it only just my thoughts, or did I hear a sigh from you?

To the Class of 1935:

Another year has rolled around and another commencement is at hand. To some it is just the finish of another year of school work, but to you who are graduating, it is much more than that. It means the end of your high school life and the beginning of a new existence, far different from anything that you have experienced before. How you will fare in this new world, will depend entirely upon what preparation you have made for it. Never again will you be high school boys and girls. Never again will you have the opportunities that you have already had, but you will have new ones presented to you. "Be Prepared" to take advantage of the opportunities as they come. Keep alert to a changing order, and show the world that you have a purpose in life from which you are not to be deterred.

My best wishes go with each of you.

ERNEST J. REED,
Superintendent of Schools

E. J. REED
Superintendent

Seniors of 1935

For three years you have been under my personal direction as principal of your high school. I feel, therefore, a certain responsibility for your future success or failure. In a sense, if you succeed in your chosen work, I have succeeded, while if you fail I have failed. Of course, many factors enter into your accomplishment, such as home, parents, church, friends, teachers, and most of all, you. Still, I have had the opportunity to influence you during your most formative years, during years of change from childhood to adulthood. So I feel that in "the big book" I have been charged with much responsibility for you.

Now, pupils, may I offer you a creed for living? Here it is: Be honest with yourselves and others; work for your rewards; practice temperance in all things but fanaticism is none; seek to encourage tolerance among men; cultivate kindness, charity, and courage; recognize your responsibility to community, state and nation by active participation in citizenship, and hold to democracy as the best social order which the mind of man has yet devised!

Your friend,
HARRY ADAMS

We have passed through two events which we recognize as crises in our lives.

The first of these events took place on September 6, 1932, when the doors of Adrian Senior High School were thrown open and admitted timid, hopeful creatures whose rapidly beating hearts told them a new chapter in their lives had begun. We were freshmen. Our first class meeting was held March 7 when we chose the officers for the year. Our class was very well represented in athletics, public speaking and many other activities.

Now we entered our second year in High School. Here too we achieved acknowledgement of our talents. A large proportion of the football, basketball, and baseball teams were made up of boys from our class. Also, the members of our class participated creditably in public speaking, music, dramatics and general scholarship.

Now we enter on the last part of this chapter of our lives. At last we are in the enviable position of seniors. As in other years in high school, our contribution to extra-curricular activities was something to be remembered. Our debating team won the County Championship and two public speaking places were won by members of our class. In music also we earned recognition not only in the city but in the state and national contests. Again a majority of football, basketball, and baseball teams were represented in our class.

As a class we have a right to be proud of the achievements both in scholarship and extra-curricular activities. Now as we leave Senior High School, we readily see that this is the second event which has influenced and changed our lives. We hope that we have made the school richer for our presence there.

In Memoriam

During our three years in Senior High School we have lost through death five girls whom we all loved as classmates.

Arlene Cole, who died during our first year, was a kind friend to all who knew her. She had been in the class from the time we began kindergarten. At the time of her death she was very prominent in school life, being a member of the orchestra and the glee club.

Hazel Wietenhagen was killed in an automobile accident during October of our second year. Her smiling face and cheerful, quiet manner caused her to be greatly missed. She was a good student, highly esteemed by her teachers and school-mates.

During the second year, also, it was a great shock to everyone to learn that Helen Brehmer had died in an Ann Arbor Hospital. Hers was a quiet, unobtrusive personality. She was honored in her art work during high school, having won prizes for posters she had designed. We miss her a great deal and she will always be remembered.

In February of the Senior year, the student body was griefstricken by the tragic deaths of Jeanne Gobba and Kathryn Kishpaugh. These two girls, who had been members of the class since kindergarten days, were very prominent in several senior activities. Also they were members of the Sickle Staff. Their passing has caused a vacancy in our school life which we have been more and more painfully conscious of as we finish our course without these two.

As a graduating class we pay the tribute of remembrance and love to the memory of these five girls.

VALEDICTORY

JEAN WESTERMAN

THERE are many who year after year have seen the students of Adrian Senior High School present their Class Day programs. We ourselves have witnessed several of those delightful events. It is with regret mingled with anticipation that we come to the close of our high school experience.

We of the Class of 1935 have never known the carefree joys of affluence. We have been drilled in the hard school of depression denials. From that experience we have learned early in life a true sense of values and that the essentials of happiness are in simple things. As a class we have been through the deep sorrow of the loss of five of our dearest friends, through the joys of accomplishment in school activities, through the satisfaction of arriving at the end of our high school days with the feeling of work well done.

From that experience we will go on, some to a higher educational field, some to find their places in the business life of our community. But go where we will, the friends we have made, the principles of living we have acquired and the ability to study through and complete the task before us, will be the foundation of our lives.

We have seen that he who is earnest and enthusiastic for the task at hand goes far; that in the deepest sorrow, our memory is of happiness.

We have found that right finally succeeds, that all disappointments and failures are but experience to help us take up our work with more intelligence, and that even our rest and leisure are but to refresh our minds and bodies that our waking hours of activity may be more keen.

And now, as we, the Class of 1935, bid farewell to the faculty, our lower classmates, and the dear halls of Adrian High School, we hope that we may so live that we may be able to say, as did Robert Browning, that each of us was

"One who never turned his back, but marched breast forward,
Never doubted clouds would break,
Never dreamed though right were worsted, wrong would triumph,
Held we fall to rise, are baffled to fight better, sleep to wake."

SALUTATORY

MARGARET YEUTTFR

TONIGHT, as in years past, a graduating class is here to bid you welcome. We have looked forward to the day when we should stand before you and say, "We are now ready to begin in your way of life, and are men and women soon to take upon ourselves the task of living." You are here to witness our farewell to the irresponsibility of youth and our welcome to the trials and joys of life. Our class is glad to have you here, for it is good to make a beginning in the presence of friends.

This is truly a great day in our lives, for the future has many things in store for us, hope and disappointment, success and failure, happiness and bitterness.

Our class faces the problem of an overcrowded world, in which we must take our place without using our elbows too much. The social life is now complete without us, we must make our way. We must find jobs, or, if there are none, make new ones.

For the past twelve years our lives have been planned for us. When we left school one year it was only to return the next year to find our assignments all planned, our work in readiness. Now, that is not so. The majority of us are through with school and face immediately the problems of an adult who has his own way to make in the world. We can dwell no more in the mystic shadow land of childhood but are come now into the light of common day, with work to do. We know that our life will not be a bed of roses, with no thorns, but we do look forward to doing many things to help.

Many graduating classes have gone from school with the idea that the world was a great big rock candy mountain, where there were streams of milk and honey running down the slopes, and all things were provided. This leads to many heart-aches and disillusionments. We do not believe in that idea. We know that no one is offering us a living for nothing. We must work for what we get, and, what is more, provide the work. There are many new fields open to us, if we can only find and utilize them. It will be a long road, and a hard one, for conquering is not easy. We can no more ride out on white chargers and kill dragons, our difficulties must be met in a long and steady fight. Our place will be hard to find, and because of that we ask you, our friends, to bear with us and guide us to be good and honest citizens of our country.

A salutatory is a welcome, and I have fulfilled that requirement in welcoming you to our Class Day program. In reality, however, yours is a greater welcome, for you are welcoming us to your world of responsibility and reality.

PROPHECY

LOUIS KRUEGER

ELWIN ALDER

Louie: "What have you there?"

Pinky: "An old picture album of our school days."

Louie: "Have you a picture of our class?"

Pinky: "You bet I have."

Louie: "It has been thirty years since that picture was taken."

Pinky: "Who is that tall boy standing beside you, Louie?"

Louie: "That is Lawrence, he was the brightest boy in the class. The teachers were very proud of him."

Pinky: "You surely don't mean Mr. Mitchell? Why he is our County Judge."

Louie: "Yes, that is he and this little boy is Glenwood Pfister."

Pinky: "Oh, yeah, he runs the corner drug store. Who is this fat boy?"

Louie: "That is Carl Crone, you remember we expected something brilliant of him, but he ran away and became a tin peddler. I bought some pans from him several years ago."

Pinky: "Who is that tall girl?"

Louie: "That is Margaret Wells. You know the old maid who built the home for cats up on North Main Street."

Pinky: "Well, who are those two girls?"

Louie: "They are Gada Stevenson and Jane Brydon. They were always such good friends. Went through High School and College together and have been in business together all these years. You know that big Millinery Store on Maumee Street. They have made a wonderful success of it."

Pinky: "Here right behind me is Mary Lake. She founded that splendid school for girls in China and here is James Myers, the most famous surgeon in the United States. This funny looking little boy is Max Yeutter, Vice President of our great country. You cannot always tell by a fellow's looks what he will be in after years. This is Donald Schomp. Who would ever have thought he would have made a famous preacher. I heard him last summer while I was in Boston. Here is Leonard Snober, he went as a foreign Missionary to Africa, and here is Carroll Powell. He was so trying to all the teachers, but gained their eternal gratitude by establishing that splendid, big apartment building where each teacher may have, free of cost, the most adorable little apartment you ever saw. I was there yesterday to see Helen Harrington. She is very old now, but still very active. Loves to read and cook in that cute little kitchen."

Louie: "This group of girls, Jean McPhail, Grace Finkell, Vivian Comstock, Irene Daley, Norma Driscoll, and Jean Westerman all married and made happy homes. After all home-making is the best career that any woman can have."

Pinky: "This boy on the end is Alvin Siddall. He became an aviator, and Arnold Breckel here next to him invented that wonderful automobile that runs without gas. It made a fortune for him."

Louie: "Paul Cairns, on this end, became Superintendent of Public Schools, and Billy Gilmore turned out to be a second Edison."

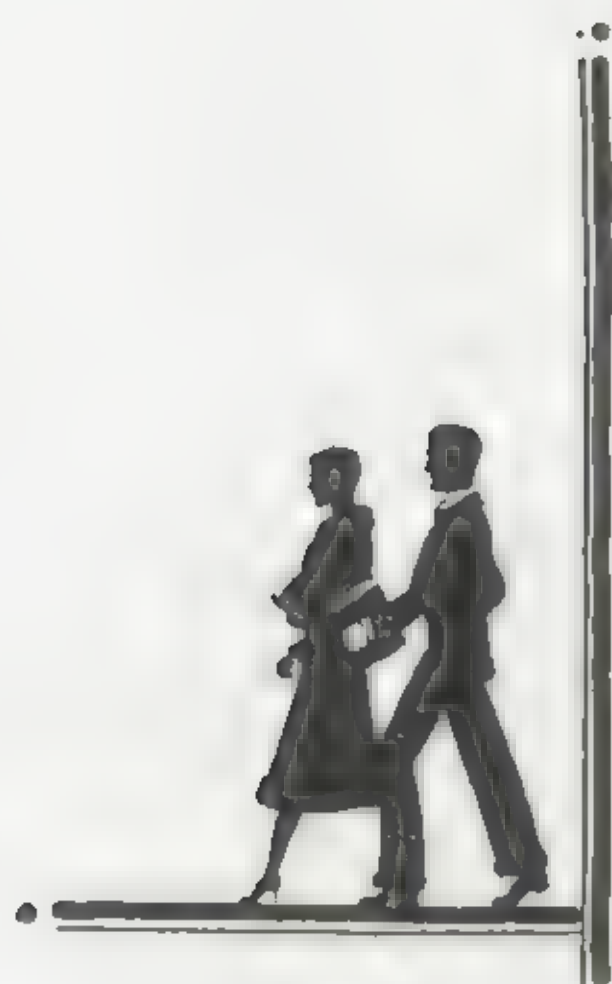

Pinky: "This lock of hair! How well I remember the day Virginia Dermeyer gave that to Robert Skinner. They were sweethearts then for a long time, but he was ambitious and wanted to be a poet. Alvin Webeck however turned out to be the better poet."

Louie: "Dear old school days, happiest days of our whole life. Dear old Adrian High School and those splendid teachers most all of them having crossed the great divide and entered into their eternal reward. And those boys and girls that meant so much to my young life."

Pinky: "How I have enjoyed turning the pages of memory and living again the happy days of long ago."

Louie: "So have I."

"VICIMUS"

We conquered.

Junior Rourke, Harold Westerman, Dick Tompson, Harvey Jackson, Hal Marshall, Sam Beal and Donald Nelson are some of our boys who have made a mark for themselves in football this season. With the championship basketball squad were the following juniors: Elwood Hadden, Dick Tompson, Harold Westerman, Harvey Jackson, and Oliver Haracourt. There were also familiar junior faces on the tennis team. However, athletics was not the only field in which we were active.

Over one-third of the A Cappella choir were members of our class. We also smothered the Band and Orchestra with forty-two of our classmates. In debating and oratory we excelled as Edith Becker won the local Declamation contest and Marguerite Laumen placed fourth in the state dramatic reading contest. We are justly proud of James Morse who was a member of the first debating team for two years, also of Wendell Arnold who carried off fourth place in the state oratorical contest.

Six members of our class helped to make the "Maple Leaf" a success this year. Carl Lofberg served as managing editor for the first semester, and Doyle Zimmerman for the second semester. Everyone enjoyed Douglas Wade's feature articles. Carolyn Thompson was our junior class editor and Sam Beal told us all about the athletic activities. The music notes for the paper were written by Margaret Anderson.

In conclusion, we think that we have proved our ability during these two years and we are now ready to step into the departing seniors' shoes and to gain heights not yet attained by us.

GIFTATORY

BETTY MYERS AND NELLIE TOWNSEND

IT has been an established custom during the history of Adrian High School to present various members of the respective senior classes with a gift as a token of appreciation for their outstanding achievements. It is our privilege to carry on this custom.

The first gift we have to present is this small rattle which must go to Agnes Goodwin so we may have peace and quiet for the remainder of the evening.

Here is an encyclopedia which can go to none other than Arnold Beckel as a reward for his studiousness in school.

Look here! A bottle of medicine, "Cure for the Giggles," but for whom can it be? Ha, I have it! Betty Van Dusen certainly deserves it as she has a decided case of the giggles.

And what is this but a can of Chinese Red paint which obviously is intended for Mabel Hayford? This will enable her to redecorate her modish Ford coupe.

Here is something else—a comb and mirror which we hope will be of assistance to Fred Chelf in keeping his hair straight.

Well, here is another bottle of something. Oh, I see upon closer observation that it is some henna shampoo for Agnes Evalsiser so that she may preserve her youthful looking red hair.

And here is a little Baer which must find its place in the hands of Ellis Berndt. We hope it will console him during his blue moments.

To Virginia Kuster we wish to present this crown. We hope it will always bring her pleasant memories of her King.

Here is a small megaphone and to whom will it be useful? Ah, it is surely meant for Jessie Spaur so she may emphasize her low voice.

To Anna Buelke we present this black bow tie to give to her Butler when she obtains him. Her heart strings seem to be pulling that way.

We have here several small books which we hope will give valuable assistance to the receivers.

The first "Advice Concerning Blondes," goes to Bob Woller, seeing that he appears to be quite concerned, and, when he is done with it, he may pass it on to his cousin, Willis Woller, who could also use it to a good advantage.

To Myrtle Weisz we give this book, "Useful Hints for Married Life," and she may in turn pass it on to her friends, Wilma Whitcher, Louise Shaffer, and Romena Bennett who are also going to take the fatal step.

And here is another, "How to Remedy Bashtfulness." And undoubtedly it is well deserved by Wilard Whitcher whose motto seems to be that little children should be seen and not heard.

To the most quiet boy in our class, Leonard Shober, we give this drum and drumstick. He can give us a signal so we may know when he is coming.

And this bit of sleeping apparatus is for Jean Westerman, our Valedictorian. She will now have a chance to catch up on her sumnering hours she has lost due to the great amount of time she has spent at her studies.

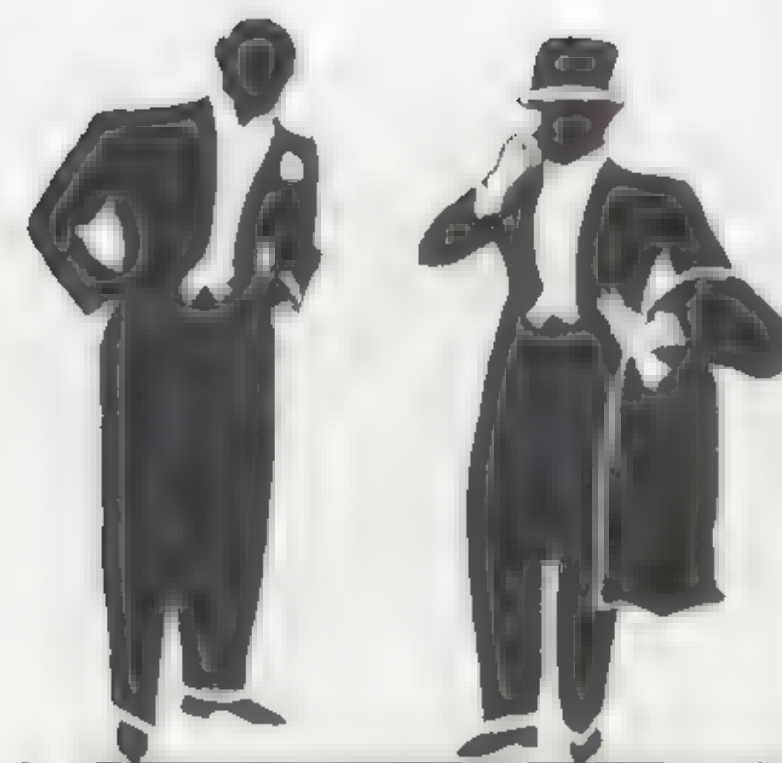

This "Free Ticket to Hollywood" goes to Dorothy Hill. She may now have her longed-for opportunity to become Zasu Pitts II.

And here is a Violet which we are sure will be appreciated by Dick Marlatt. It appears to have given a new hue to Dick's days of late.

As our last gift we wish to bestow our best wishes for the success of the junior and freshman classes of this year. We hope that they will uphold the customs of Adrian High School and earn new honors for her.

In conclusion, we wish, in behalf of the graduating class of 1935, to extend our thanks to parents and teachers for having so thoughtfully guided us through school.

THE Sickle Staff is responsible for the preparation and publication of the Senior Sickle. The Faculty selected the Editor-in-Chief, the Assistant Editor, and the Business Manager; these three in turn appointing the members of the staff. Each one is responsible for writing the account of some particular phase of school activities. The price of the Sickle is relatively small in comparison with the value which it is bound to have in later years. This Sickle provides a record of the principal accomplishments and outstanding events of our Senior High School Career.

As we all know this has been an unusual year and the class has been faced by many handicaps. In publishing the Sickle every effort has been made to keep within the limits of our budget. It is with pride that the class of 1935 presents this volume to you.

MISS ARMSTRONG
Faculty Adviser

IN September, 1934, a high school newspaper was launched and named The Maple Leaf. This publication has served both as a record of high school activities and as a means of fostering school spirit by its timely wit and wisdom.

This group is composed of the freshmen, juniors and seniors interested in journalism.

A journalism class was organized at the beginning of the second semester. The class met twice a week and was composed of members of the Maple Leaf Staff, together with a few additional students who were particularly interested in the subject. Besides preparing the articles for The Maple Leaf some insight into journalism has been gained.

STUDENTS DISCUSS PROBLEMS

THE Student Council is composed of twelve members equally representing the three classes in high school. The president of each class is included in this group. Mr. Adams is the faculty adviser. The purpose of the council is to promote student government in Adrian Senior High School. At the first meeting these officers were elected: Virginia Kuster, president, Leland Humphrey, vice-president, Margaret Anderson, secretary. During the year the council has decided on various important questions such as prices of football and basketball tickets, purchase of a radio for the study hall, dates of class parties, programs for general assemblies, and appointments of committees to investigate student projects and affairs.

Last fall, Robert Bartholomew, Vincent Comstock, and Leland Humphrey attended the Youth Congress, which was called to discuss the importance of Young Americans in the affairs of the nation, future wars in America being the main topic.

This spring the council sent Margaret Anderson, Ruth Mowat, Leland Humphrey, and Virginia Kuster, to Detroit to visit Southeastern High School and Cooley High School. They brought back several splendid ideas to be carried out next year for forwarding keener interest in student affairs.

During the year the council demonstrated in a general assembly how a meeting is carried on. All the members contributed to the discussion which concerned the sale and purchase of the tickets for the Christmas Pageant, "The Yuletide."

The council feels that they have been very successful in the first year of their existence and they believe that in the future the organization will justly claim more prestige in school affairs.

FORENSIC LEAGUE HONORED

THE Forensic League this year, under the leadership of Irene Daley, Agnes Goodwin, and Alvin Wiebeck, has had the honor of being the leading chapter in Michigan in the number of member degrees. Our two debating teams, backed by several others, ended in the Lenawee County Debating League as champions and entered in the first round of the state eliminations.

A freshman and a prospective member of the Forensic League, Miriam Westerman, evidenced great ability by emerging the victor in declamation at the sub-district contest held at Ypsilanti, April 17, with such competition as Ann Arbor University High School, Trenton, and Ypsilanti Roosevelt.

Another field in which we have achieved great success is that of dramatics. Several one act plays have been produced, including 'His First Dress Suit,' 'The Day That Lincoln Died,' 'At the Stroke of Twelve,' 'If Men Played Cards Like Women Do,' and scenes from Shakespeare's "Taming of the Shrew." "The Valiant" was produced at a play contest sponsored by the Adrian College Dramatic Club for the schools in Lenawee County, at which we emerged victorious. A second cast put on the play for a general assembly April 12, where it met with overwhelming approval.

Our senior play, "The Admirable Chrichton," whose cast was ably headed by Paul Cairns and Jeanne Gobba, was postponed indefinitely because of the passing of Jeanne Gobba, for whom we mourn most sincerely not only because of her great ability in the various departments of speech but because her death took from us one of the brightest and most lovable personalities Adrian High School has ever seen.

Our social activities for the year embraced parties held at the homes of Agnes Goodwin, James Morse, and John MacNaughton where several new members were initiated including Jarvis Wotrung, Guy Gallup, Jeanne Gobba, Marcia Horsington, Barbara Stark, Margaret Yeutter, Richard Brautigam, Margaret Anderson, Paul Cairns, Alvin Siddall, and Grace Finkell.

THE Concert Band of 70 members has cooperated with the orchestra quite extensively this year, the two groups furnishing music jointly on many civic occasions. The Marching Band, with Fred Chelf completing his second year as drum major, has most generously given of its music at football games and at pep meetings. Many small ensembles made up of members of the band and orchestra have willingly contributed their talents to entertaining in the community. There were among these a Clarinet Quartet, a German Band, a Woodwind Quintet, a Cornet Quartet, a Trombone Quartet, and a French Horn Quartet. The Band took part in the Southeastern Michigan Music Festival in Detroit in May, gaining distinctive honors.

THE Symphony Orchestra composed of 71 fine musicians has done much in the way of cooperating with the community this year. It took part in the concert for the benefit of the Salvation Army in October, and also played a most important part in the Christmas Pageant held in December. At the Southeastern Michigan Music Festival held in Mt. Clemens in March, this organization was given a superior rating. The Orchestra assisted with the concerts given for the purpose of furthering interest in good music. It has played before school assemblies on different occasions, and has furnished music for numerous school functions.

THE Adrian High School A Cappella Choir, which has just completed its third year of existence, boasts 370 members and a fine record of achievement this year. In October a demonstration of A Cappella Choir singing was given in Lansing for the benefit of the music division of the third district of the Michigan Education Association.

A very beautiful and most impressive Christmas Pageant was presented on the stage of the Croswell Theatre in December by the combined music and speech departments for the purpose of raising money for the Associated Charities. It combined the sacred significance of Christmas with the joyification of the season in a most gratifying manner and met with a fine response from the citizens of Adrian and outlying towns.

Numerous special groups of senior voices have been organized this year, and have been called upon many times to sing in Adrian and throughout the county. Two boys' quartets were formed, composed of (1), Jarvis Wotring, John MacNaughton, Paul Curns, and Evert Hylander, (2), Don Brown, Harlow Anderson, Eugene LaSalle, and Roger Anderson. There have been two double mixed quartets. The boys composing the first quartet, together with Agnes Goodwin, Jane Brydon, Jean Westerman and Louise Schaffer made up the first one, while the boys of the second quartet were placed with Jennie McPhail, Irene Diley, Jane Allen and Dorothy Marr to form the second. A girls' septet, consisting of Mabel Hayford, Inez Alexander, Elizabeth Baker, Donna Macey, Lois Alog, Lenore Bangerter, and Hazel Eber has furnished music on several occasions. A girls' trio composed of Agnes Goodwin, Jean Westerman, and Louise Schaffer also has been quite active. All of these organizations excepting the girls' septet participated in the North Central Music Supervisors' Conference held in Indianapolis in March, and prior to this, concerts were given by the A Cappella Choir and by the groups themselves, for the purpose of raising money for the trip. The groups received unusually high ratings in this contest and also made some very fine contacts. All in all, this has been a very pleasant and profitable year for the vocal department.

FUTURE FARMERS HAVE ENJOYED SUCCESSFUL YEAR

THE F. F. A. strives toward one goal, to develop rural cooperation, rural leadership, and the ability to make farming a successful enterprise.

Last fall it was decided to have a home room which would consist of boys interested in F. F. A. work. When we organized, we made out a program which we have carried out during the school year. First on our program was the organization of degree teams. These teams initiated many members into the F. F. A. in various towns in Lenawee County. In November the F. F. A. chapter was given the privilege of selling refreshments at the annual Monroe Adrian football game.

November 30 eleven members of the chapter and our instructor, Mr. Clark, left for a four day trip to the International Live Stock Show in Chicago. Many interesting things were seen, such as the Swift Packing Plant, the Livestock Show in the New Arena at the Stock Yards, and the Marshall Field Department Store which is the largest in the world.

January 9 the Adrian Chapter entertained the schools of Lenawee County for an annual all-county F. F. A. meet. Thirty-seven candidates from various schools were raised to the grade of Future Farmers, eight from Adrian receiving the degree. The speaker for the evening was Mr. Robert Linton of Michigan State College.

February 25 the annual F. F. A. Father and Son banquet was held at the Rome Grange. Fifty-six attended. The speaker was our own state F. F. A. adviser, Mr. Gallup. In March the members of the F. F. A. prepared talks on high school life to present to boys and girls of rural schools.

The members of the chapter believe that our success in F. F. A. work is due to the cooperation of the students in our home room, and to the capable guidance of our friend and teacher, Mr. Clark.

Third Row: Carl Abarger, Robert Dillon, Carl Crone, Willard Whitcher, Donald Nelson, Sam Beal, Max Yeutter.

REVIEW OF FOOTBALL SEASON RECALLS HARD FOUGHT GAMES

COACH Kelly's call for football candidates was answered by about fifty players. Among these were eight lettermen, Shomp, Shober, Skinner, Krueger, Reed, Gechen, Thompson, and Becker. After about three weeks of hard practice, Adrian went to Blissfield and defeated them 12-0. The next week Adrian journeyed to Marshall for its first Twin Valley League game. Here Adrian met a very strong team and was defeated 44-7. Adrian played its next game at home against Sturgis, but despite the fact that they outplayed Sturgis most of the game they were defeated 6-0. For its next game the team traveled to Hillsdale and here they finally hit their stride and defeated the Dales 7-3. Adrian also won her next game at Coldwater 14-0. The following week a strong Albion team came to Adrian, but Adrian ran wild and defeated them 26-6. After a week's rest Adrian met her old rival, Monroe. Monroe showed a very strong defense and a fast offense and Adrian was defeated in a heartbreaking game 19-0. This ended the football season with Adrian turning in four wins against three defeats.

MEET THE CHAMPIONS

SOON after the close of the football season, Coach Kelly started basketball practice. An abundance of good material turned out and after about three weeks of practice Adrian played its first warm up game against Deerfield, easily winning, 48-15. Adrian next met the Tecumseh-B team, this time winning 42-13. Adrian played one more warm-up game before entering the Twin Valley League Race, defeating Howell 33-8. The following Friday Adrian met Coldwater but was defeated by the close score of 26-23. Adrian journeyed to Sturgis for her next game and returned victorious 28-22. Marshall played Adrian next and was turned back 31-25. Our team was handed its second defeat of the season the following week by Albion, 24-26, but secured revenge by defeating Hillsdale 40-19 in the next game. After a week of hard practice Adrian journeyed to Albion for the return game with them and was defeated a second time by them 25-16. This defeat proved to be the last for Adrian until she was defeated in the first round of the state championship finals. After the Albion game Adrian won her next four starts against Sturgis, Marshall, Albion, and Hillsdale to end her Twin Valley Season with seven wins and three defeats. Coach Kelly then entered our team in the Regional Tournament at Ypsilanti and drew Wayne for the first game. Wayne was a team that had been picked as one of the best possibilities for the Class B State Championship, but Adrian played a very fast and hard game and came out on top 23-20. The following night the team returned and easily defeated Blissfield 36-14. The final game for the Regional Championship was played against Ypsilanti High, and when the final whistle blew Adrian was in the lead 20-18, thus winning the Regional Championship. The following Thursday Adrian played at Jackson against Marshall whom they had defeated twice, but this time Marshall turned the tables and eliminated Adrian by winning an exciting game 21-20. This ended the basketball season for Adrian which was one of the most successful years an Adrian team has ever had.

Third Row: Weldon Beebe, Raymond Howard, Harvey Jackson, Donald Schomp, Herbert Howe, Louis Krueger, Leonard Shober, Mr. Kelly (coach).

BASEBALL PROSPECTS BRIGHT AS TEAM WINS OPENING GAME

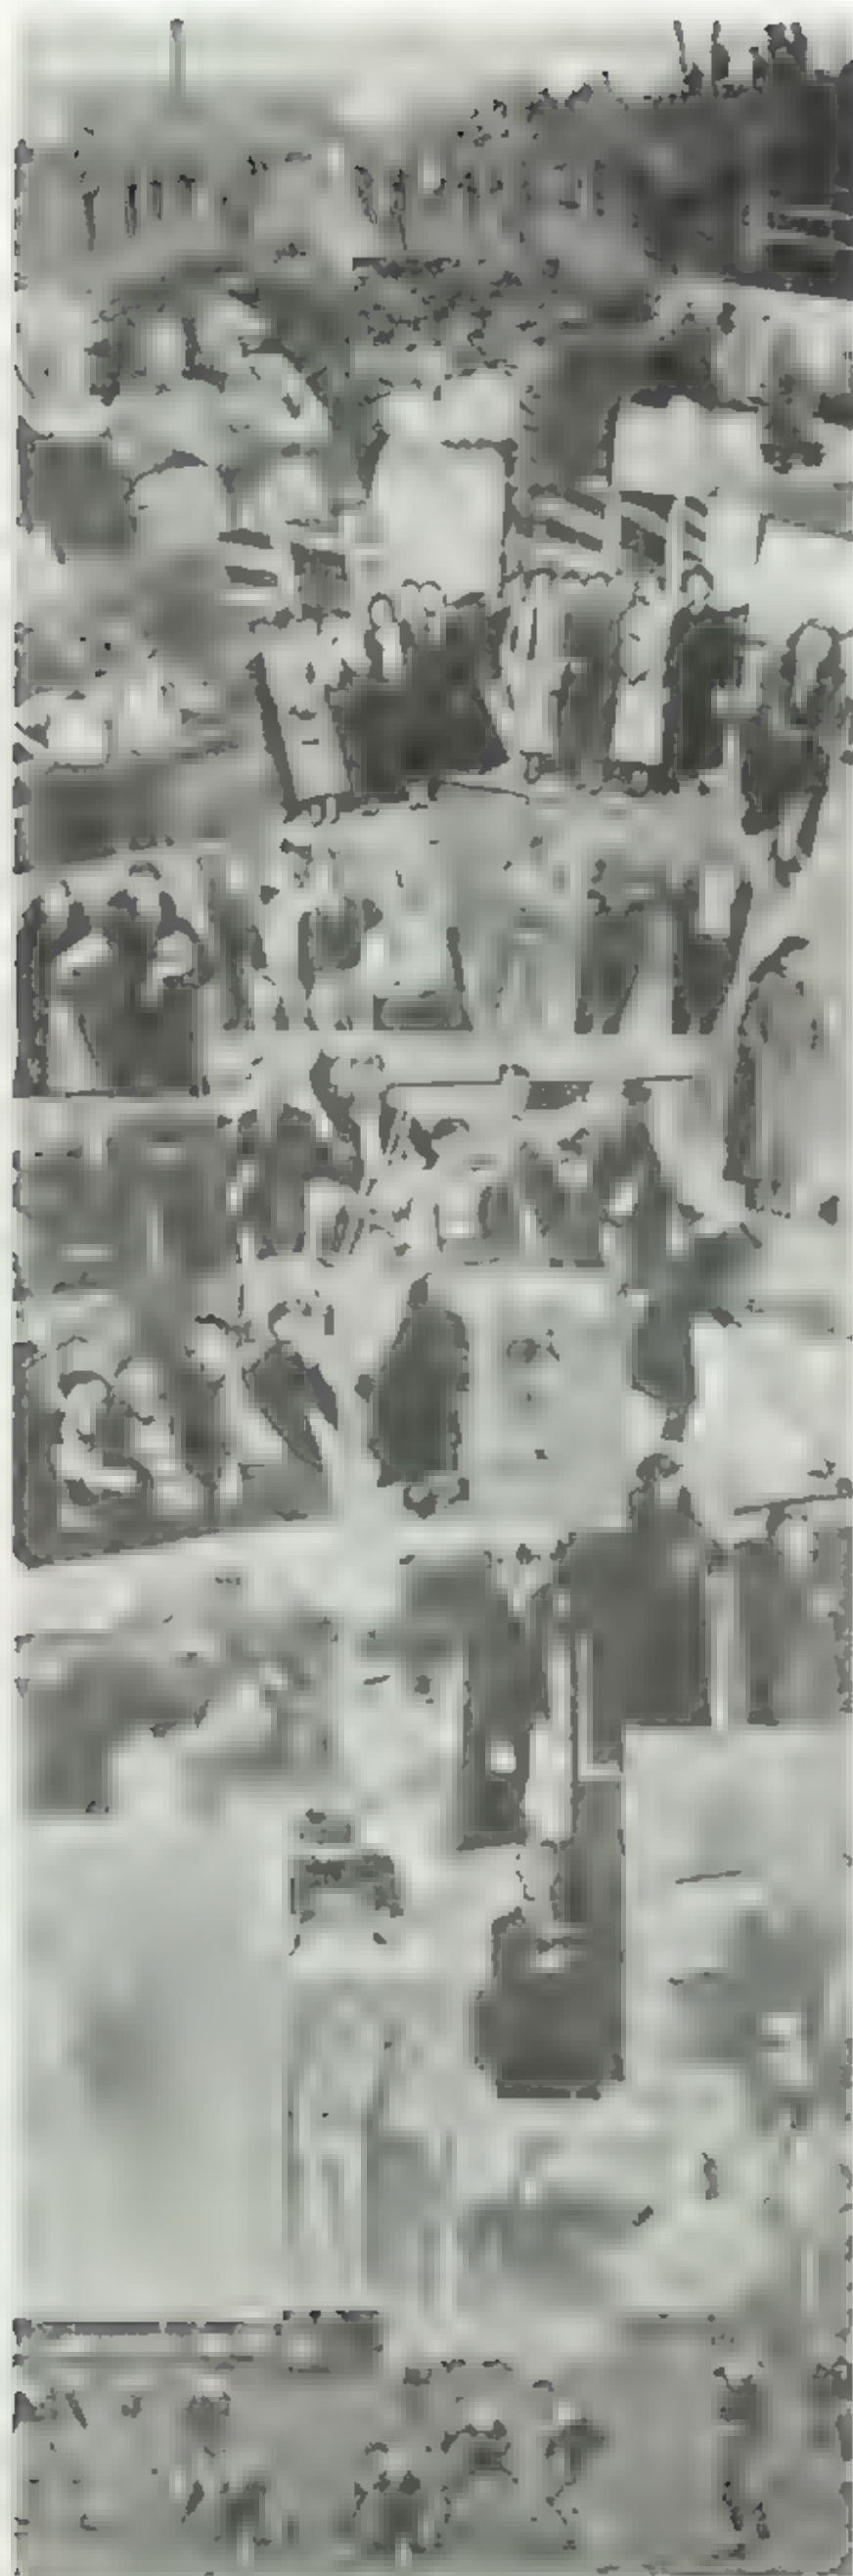

ABOUT thirty-five players reported for baseball on the first day of practice. Included among them were seven letter men from last year. They were: Howe Krueger, Shober, Stark, Rourke, Darnton and Yeutter. The team was held back from practice for two weeks because of rainy weather but even with this handicap they won their first game, piling up a score of 7-3 against Tecumseh. Henderson, Tecumseh's ace pitcher, was not able to check a 6 run rally in the sixth inning.

At the time of going to press, Adrian has yet to play Blissfield, Clinton and Deerfield, but a successful season is probable.

FEATURES

SEPTEMBER

- September 5—School opens. If only every day were like the first!
- September 10—Class officers were elected and for the fifth time Paul Cairns was chosen as our president.
- September 20—We defeated Blissfield in our first football game of the season. We thought Kelly should be able to pick eleven winners from the forty out for the team.
- September 21—Excused for the fair. Pitching pennies is a good game but you can lose faster than you think—you might ask Eugene LaSalle about that.

OCTOBER

- October 4—Since Dick Marlatt bet five cents on the Tigers today Mr. Adams was kind enough to dismiss school so he could hear the game without skipping.
- October 5—Big crowd, big noise, little score. Sturgis 6, Adrian 0.
- October 18—The Brown-Menely Duo was presented in the first assembly program given today. If this is a sample maybe even Kenny Smith will stick around—at assemblies.
- October 26—We are amusing our freshman with a puppet show as we were amused when we were "much younger."
- October 31—Civic Hallowe'en Party. Band leads parade. Rumor: The kids behaved better than the band.

NOVEMBER

- November 9—Monroe game. The largest crowd of the season; the team in good condition, splendid school spirit; the final score was Adrian, 0; Monroe, 19. Oh, well, there's always another year.
- November 19—The Twin Valley League of basketball opens. We are expecting big things, so don't disappoint us.
- November 20—What are our freshman girls coming to? These little cherubs were given junior mothers—our sympathy is with the freshmen!
- November 29—Thanksgiving. Everybody happy? At least we can be grateful for two days' vacation!

DECEMBER

December 4—Channing Beebe climaxed his lecture on Africa with a wild-elephant hunt which was such a thrilling tale that we hear Jane Brydon bit her finger nails.

December 20—"At the Stroke of Twelve." Alvin, we were worried about your rain coat even though you weren't.

December 21—Our Instrumental and Vocal music groups presented a Christmas pageant, "The Yule Log," in cooperation with the Associated Charities. Little Patsy Adams stole the show when she rode in on the Yule Log.

Vacation—Too bad our dear little freshmen had to find out about Santa Claus! It rather looks as if the junior girls aren't doing their duty!

JANUARY

January 7—School reopens. Is it true, Ellis, you wanted to bring your electric train to school and Mr. Farkas wouldn't let you?

January 11—Four straight wins, no loses, our debating team announces. However, we feel that even logic melts away with blonde hair and a smile, at least when owned by Alvin Wiebeck.

January 15—Query: Why was it the "I. Q." from the freshman Intelligence test was never published?

January 22—Assembly program. Cameron Beck spoke on "Trade Marks." He made just one mistake—giving a box of crackers to Agnes—she just couldn't keep from scattering the trade mark all over the floor.

January 25—Junior Class Party.

FEBRUARY

February 8—Teachers' Institute. The teachers had to listen, for once!

February 15—We hope there is no reflection on the seniors, however, although a few of the teachers are going "skin-deep" in their discussion of high school girls' make-up.

February 28—For this Assembly Program with "Smiling Bob Briggs" we smiled for other reasons than for getting out of a class. In the rush after the program the smile turned into a sore toe for Don Brown.

MARCH

March 1—Call out the Marines! Herschleder's back and of course in time for the freshman party which seemed to be three upper classmen to one freshman—Are the freshmen still too young?

Max Yenor is getting along famously with his dancing. He ought to be pretty good by the Send-Off.

March 4—At the Local speech contest Margaret Yeutter rode her "Blue Razor Back Pig" to victory. After battling a whole day John MacNaughton's wind finally outwinded four other prominent seniors.

March 14—For the fifth time in fifteen years we won the Basketball Tournament Trophy. An assembly was called to celebrate the occasion.

March 30—The Orchestra participated in the music festival at Mt. Clemens. A visit was made to Selfridge Field where five strong lads held Evert Hylander from taking an Airplane ride.

APRIL

April 1—Spring Vacation and we hear Glida is having plenty of time to go roller skating with her "College hero."

April 12—Senior Party was rather mild compared to the other Class parties but of course this befits us dignified seniors.

MAY

May 3—The senior girls just had to be kids again so we had a party where we could wear short dresses, ankle socks, and hair ribbons.

May 22-25—Senior trip. We thought it wise to let the seniors go to Niagara Falls because we are not sure we shall all get there later.

May 26—Baccalaureate.

May 27—Send-Off. Thanks, juniors, for the lovely party. Good music, pretty girls, handsome men—who could ask for more?

May 28—Senior picnic, and the last informal gathering. It certainly was informal! Tomorrow we become seniors again but at least we had one day to act like youngsters.

May 29—Class Day. Who says we can't take it? Sitting on a hot stage for two hours is no joke! We hear Bill Gilmore wants to keep his cap and gown for a souvenir.

May 30—Commencement.

May 31—Alumni Banquet. We eat! And become just another group of A. H. S. Alumni.

JOKES

Paul Cairns "I understand Jean Westerman is having her voice cultivated."

Betty Van Dusen "Yes, and I understand the neighbors are growing wild."

Miss Armstrong: "How many senses are there?"

Luther Hill: "Six."

Miss Armstrong: "Indeed! I have only five."

Luther Hill: "Yeah—but the other is common sense."

Sight-seeing guide (In Boston). "On our right you see the tablet marking the spot where Paul Revere stood waiting for the signal to be hung in the Old North Church."

Glida Stevenson "Oh dear—and why did they pick the Old North Church to hang him in?"

CLASS ROOM BONERS

1: "When Mt. Vesuvius erupted Pompeii was covered with larva."

2: "Each year the Nile River overflows and spreads a thin sentiment on its banks."

Mr. Sweet: "Violet, can you tell me how iron was discovered?"

Violet Woller: "My father told me they smelt it."

Irene Daley: "Do you think men have descended from monkeys?"

Jeanne McPhail: "Not very far."

Dick Marlatt: "I am an endurance Cornet player—I entered a contest once and played 'Annie Laurie' for three weeks."

Bill Gilmore: "Did you win?"

Dick: "No—some other guy played 'Stars and Stripes Forever!'"

Dorman Rockwell: "What could be worse than a giraffe with tonsillitis?"

Payson Lincoln "That's easy—a hippo with mumps, or an elephant with sinus trouble or a centipede with Athlete's foot."

Mr. Sweet: "What is the potency of Cyanide of potassium as a poison?"

Bob Skinner: "One drop on a dog's tongue will kill a man!"

Don Schomp (to freshman football player): "Why are you limping?"

Freshman. "I fell off the end of the bench when you made that end run yesterday."

John MacNaughton: "Well—I am trying to get ahead!"

Jane Brydon: "Goodness knows you need one!"

"Did you know 'Beef' Clement was knocked off the football squad once during the season? He was told to tackle the dummy and he tackled Kelly."

Mr. Adams: "Have you bought a new car yet?"

Mr. Farkas: "No—I don't know whether to get a gasoline or a limousine car; does limousine smell as bad as gasoline?"

Miss Hutchins: "Don, give me an example of period furniture."

Don Brown: "Well, an electric chair because it ends a sentence."

Mr. Cowin: "I will use my hat to represent Mars. Is there any question before I continue?"

Mary Lake: "Yes—Is Mars inhabited?"

Agnes Goodwin (arrested for speeding): "But Officer, I am a high school senior!"

Cop: "Ignorance is no excuse—Come on!"

Mr. Clark: "Can any boy name five things that contain milk?"

Wells Beebe: "Cheese, butter, ice cream, and two cows."

Miss Green: "How do you account for the phenomenon of dew?"

L. Mitchell: "The earth revolves on its axis every twenty-four hours, and in consequence of the tremendous pace it perspires freely."

Manager (to Hal Case, seeking employment): "Weren't you here two weeks ago and I told you I wanted an older boy?"

Hal Case: "Yes sir—That's why I came back."

Mr. Whitney: "Why are you late this morning?"

Bill Plank: "Well, there are eight people at our house and the clock was set for seven."

Employer: "I can't use you—I don't need much help."

"Blondie Becker": "Oh, that's all right, I won't be much help."

Mr. Westerman: "You have a ritzy voice, haven't you?"

Jarvis Wotring: "What do you mean?"

Mr. Westerman: "Well off."

Mrs. Cairns: "If Shakespeare were alive to-day would he be looked upon as a remarkable man?"

Wayne Hale: "Sure, he would be 300 years old."

Alvin Wiebeck: "It's a funny thing, but the biggest fools always get the prettiest girls."

Margaret Yeutter: "Oh! How you flatter me!"
